

Interna had the pleasure and honour of contributing significantly to the creation of this extraordinary sailing ship, the largest and most luxurious of its kind in the world.

Conceived as an ultra-exclusive hotel at sea, the vessel offers 54 spacious suites accommodating 110 guests, attended by a crew of 170.

Interna, through its sister company Interna France, was entrusted with the complete turnkey implementation of four principal public areas: La Terrasse, the Main Stair, the Pool Lounge, and the Marina Bay. Interna oversaw the entire process, from detailed design and production through logistics and installation, bringing together and coordinating the hundreds of people, suppliers and specialists involved in the realization of these spaces.

Rather than indulging in nostalgia, the architect Maxime d'Angeac, creative mind and guiding hand behind the interiors of this remarkable ship, conceived an atmosphere of sophisticated contemporaneity, conveyed through clean, essential lines. Its elegance, deliberately free of ostentation, emerges from the harmony of proportions, the colour palette, the dialogue between unexpected materials, and an exceptional level of craftsmanship. It is an understated form of luxury, in which precision and almost obsessive attention to detail are what ultimately make the difference.
