Interior designer: Jacques Garcia
Period: 2015
Client: Société Montmartroise Hôtelière

Maison Souquet, an orchestrate symphony of bold colour combinations, precious materials, rare items and the best Italian manufacture.

Behind a discreet façade, clearly marked by red lanterns, the Maison Souquet - only 20 exclusive rooms including 6 suites - reserves its luxury only to the initiates. In place of the Belle Époque old pleasure house stands one of the most sumptuous and dissolute Parisian hotels. The talent of Jacques Garcia for the design restores to the location the unheard of mystery, elegance, exoticism, sensuality and luxury of the architecturally connoted old pleasure house.

Interna long lasting cooperation with Jacques Garcia found yet again superb expression within this hotel for which Interna supplied a wide range of high-end sittings, tables and case-goods both for public areas and rooms and suites; many of the items have been designed and produced specifically for the project, whereas many others have been selected from the 2005 Interna furniture catalogue Les Grands Classiques de Jacques Garcia, that counts more than 50 exclusive items produced with the best sartorial manufacture, the most noble materials and the utmost care to even the smallest detail.

Maison Souquet, una sinfonia inimitabile che orchestra accostamenti cromatici audaci, materiali preziosi, oggetti rari e la migliore manifattura italiana.

Dietro una facciata discreta, ben delimitata da lanterne rosse, Maison Souquet - solo 20 camere di cui 6 suite all'insegna dell'esclusività - riserva il suo lusso ai soli iniziati. Al posto dell'antica casa di piacere della Belle Epoque, si erge oggi uno dei più sontuosi e sulfurei hotel parigini. Il talento di Jacques Garcia al servizio del design ridona al luogo il mistero, l'eleganza, l'esotismo, la sensualità e il lusso inaudito della vecchia casa chiusa dall'architettura ben connotata.

La lunga collaborazione di Interna con Jacques Garcia ha trovato anche qui eccellente espressione: Interna ha fornito sedute, tavoli e mobili di altissimo livello qualitativo per spazi comuni, camere e suite; molti arredi sono stati disegnati e prodotti ad hoc per questo progetto, altri sono stati selezionati dalla collezione di Interna Les Grands Classiques de Jacques Garcia del 2005 che propone oltre 50 articoli esclusivi prodotti all'insegna della migliore sartorialità, con l'utilizzo di materiali nobili e grande attenzione per ogni minimo dettaglio.

Maison Souquet, une symphonie inimitable qui met en jeu des combinaisons de couleurs audacieuses, des matériaux précieux, des objets rares et la meilleure manufacture italienne.

Derrière une façade discrète, relevée de lanternes rouges, la Maison Souquet, qui ne comprend que 20 chambres dont 6 suites aux décors uniques, réserve son luxe aux seuls initiés. En lieu et place de l'ancienne maison de plaisirs de la Belle Epoque, on a aujourd'hui un hôtel d'une renommée sulfureuse et l'un des plus fastueux de Paris. Le talent de Jacques Garcia au service du design restitue au lieu le mystère, l'élégance, l'exotisme, la sensualité et le luxe inouï de ces établissements à l'architecture bien codifiée.

La longue collaboration d'Interna avec Jacques Garcia a trouvé sa meilleure expression dans cet hôtel pour lequel Interna a fourni des sièges, des tables et des meubles de haute qualité pour tous les espaces communs, les chambres et les suites. Bon nombre des éléments ont été conçus et fabriqués tout spécialement pour ce projet; d'autres ont été sélectionnés de la collection Interna "Les Grands Classiques de Jacques Garcia" de 2005, qui propose plus de 50 articles exclusifs fabriqués sous le signe du meilleur artisanat, en utilisant des matériaux de qualité et en prêtant une attention toute particulière au moindre détail.
